

Charles of London
718 FIFTH AVENUE
(CORNER 14TH ST.)
Special Exhibition
of Forty
Old English
MARBLE
MANTEL PIECES

SUFFRAGE PLANS LAID FOR YEAR

Campaign State Leaders in All-Day Session Declare for Anthony Amendment.

With Dr. Anna Howard Shaw in the lead, representatives from each of the state suffrage associations present at the annual conference of campaign state leaders, held at 505 Fifth Avenue yesterday.

Logically and co-operation was the keynote. Prominent members of the National American Woman Suffrage Association were present, and with the others pledged vigorous support to the national campaign for a federal amendment and energetic state work for suffrage.

The resolutions of the association, which they, with a discussion of the work of the past year, were adopted, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 5 p. m. in the afternoon. The following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, Under the leadership and encouragement of the National American Woman Suffrage Association eleven states have won partial suffrage, many states have won partial suffrage and many states have won partial suffrage, and the work of the past year has been so successful that it is now possible to lay the foundation for a federal amendment and energetic state work for suffrage, and to declare our loyalty to the state work of that organization; and further be it resolved, That we, the representatives of the state organizations of the four campaign states of 1915 wish to express our appreciation of the steadfast support of the National American Woman Suffrage Association and to reaffirm our loyalty to the state work of that organization; and further be it resolved, That we hold ourselves ready to support the National American Woman Suffrage Association in the work of its congressional committee on behalf of the Susan B. Anthony amendment, which it has been pushing vigorously in Congress for the last forty-five years and which is developing greatly increased strength."

Resides Dr. Shaw, the president, the other members of the official board of the National American Woman Suffrage Association who were present were: Mrs. H. H. Patterson, Mrs. Mary Ingalls, Miss Anna Snyder, Miss Alice Blackwell, Mrs. Gertrude Halliday, Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. Wirt Dexter, Mrs. Claude L. Gilson, Mrs. Susan W. Wood, Mrs. E. P. Folger, Mrs. Esther O'Brien, Mrs. Robert S. Huse, Mrs. W. B. Dunne, Mrs. Minna Van Winkle, Mrs. Caroline Ruts-Rees and Mrs. Laura Puffer Hoxon.

140 RAILROAD MEN TALK DEVELOPMENT

Delegates from All Over United States, Canada and Mexico in Session at McAlpin.

Representing approximately 225,000 miles of railways, 140 representatives of railroads in the United States, Canada and Mexico were assembled yesterday in the first day's session of the annual meeting of the Railway Development Association.

The three-day session at the Hotel McAlpin was called to order by John C. King, president of the association and general industrial agent of the Big Four Railroad. Mayor Mitchell was to address the members in the morning, but was delayed until the afternoon. Addresses were made yesterday by George A. Post, president of the Railway Business Association; John P. Fox, immigration agent of the Northern Pacific; W. S. Kies, vice-president of the National City Bank; William H. Pitt, agricultural commissioner of the Denver & Rio Grande, and W. W. Wood, general industrial agent of the Baltimore & Ohio.

Following Mr. Fox's address on "The Unexpended Methods of Some Land Locators" in inducing farmers to settle in barren tracts in the West, the association passed a resolution to urge upon Congress and the various state governments the enactment of a law compelling such agents to be licensed, thus affording some protection to the homeseekers.

"Better Relations Between Railway and Other Business Enterprises and the Public" was the subject of the address of George A. Post, president of the Railway Business Association.

There has been during the last few years a better feeling than ever existed before," said he, "and it is because the public now knows some of the problems that harass the railroads. The public now realizes that anything that seriously cripples the railroads hurts itself."

A dinner will be held to-night at the McAlpin at the Merchants' Association; Howard Elliott, chairman of the New Haven; Ralph Peters, president of the Long Island Railroad, and United States Senator Weeks, of Massachusetts, will attend.

The association will take a boat trip about New York Harbor following Wednesday morning's session, and will inspect the Bush Terminal.

HEINZ
Tomato
Ketchup
Free from Benzoin of Soda
Makes ordinary foods taste like luxuries. It is delicious, whole-some, pure.
One of the 57

SIGNS OF RETURN TO PROSPERITY IN MEXICO SEEN

State Department Says Carranza Has Greatly Improved Conditions.

VILLA TO ATTACK AGUA PRIETA AGAIN

Army Marching on Carranza Garrison—Many of His Troops Deserting.

(From The Tribune Bureau.)
Washington, Nov. 9.—Military terrorism as a symbol of progress is the feature of a long statement on conditions in Mexico issued by the State Department today. After citing numerous instances of improved conditions due to Carranza rule, the department adds:

"In the capital and in all of the large cities and towns under the control of the Carranzistas, law and order have been restored as rapidly as possible. Some parts of the rural districts still have roving bands of soldiers who have been unable to apprehend and exterminate. Various bandits hanging from telegraph poles on the railroad right of way, however, show that progress is being made in their extermination."

The statement is unusual in that it speaks confidently of what Carranza will do in the future. The statement says:

"Conditions in Mexico are such as might be expected in any country that has passed through about six years of civil war. Those hopeful for the restoration of order and of Mexico's former prosperity believe that there now is a chance for them to improve. In Mexico City the famine is a thing of the past. Now, through government officials, there is food for everybody, and the improvement of the railroad service makes it certain that food conditions will be better every day."

"While business is not flourishing, compared with former years in Mexico City, it is probably better than it has been at any other time since the trouble started."

"Restoration of railroad service throughout the country is the big step toward resuming normal conditions, but it will also be the barometer of peace and order in the country. Railroads have been in the last few weeks transferred from the military to the civil authorities. The latter are now attempting to get them on a running schedule, working under the most discouraging handicaps."

"Of the former equipment of the great national system of railroads more than two-thirds of the engines, cars, rolling stock and stations have been destroyed. One-half, at least, of what is left is still being used by the military. Shortage of freight cars and locomotives is holding back the resumption of the normal commerce of the country."

"The warehouses at Vera Cruz are already crowded to their capacity. The Ward Line boats have resumed weekly sailings, and they are loading hundreds of tons there every trip. The railroad is helpless to move more than a small portion of freight toward the interior. Practically every mile of railroad has been repaired by the different armies."

Villa Marching on Agua Prieta
Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 9.—General Villa's army is marching eastward from Naco and Villa Verde, Sonora, to-night, toward Agua Prieta, the scene of Villa's recent unsuccessful attack on the forces of General Calles, the Carranza defender, according to advices here to-night from American farmers on the border. These advices stated that just before dark a column of troops estimated at several miles in length passed through Anavacachi Pass, twelve miles southwest of Agua Prieta, and started eastward.

Advices from Naco, Ariz., said that seven thousand Villa troops between there and Anavacachi Pass late to-day were engaged with scouting parties sent out from Agua Prieta by General Calles.

The Carranza defenders of Agua Prieta went into the trenches to-night in expectation of a night attack by Villa. Carranza officials here stated they were informed by deserters from Villa's army of Villa's intention to attack. General Villa himself was expected to-night to arrive at Nogales.

$100,000,000 FUND FOR RED CROSS

Continued from page 1

gramme at this point, while Miss Boardman remarked that ex-President Taft's appointment as chairman of the Red Cross central committee ought to silence any critics who said the Red Cross was in politics.

"President Wilson is head of the Red Cross," she said, "and the appointment of this committee is in his hands. It was Mr. Wilson who appointed Mr. Taft."

After several hints on the part of the chief speakers, Mrs. Douglas Robinson started the movement for joining all the war relief societies under the Red Cross.

"I am a member of several relief committees myself," she said, "and I really want to know what we can do about it. Could we have a conference of the leaders of all the societies and talk the matter over?"

Sonora, where yesterday a small body of his troops were said to have deserted.

Manifestos calling on Villa adherents to desert and offering amnesty are being circulated in Villa camps, according to the Carranza consul here. One of these, signed by forty-four commissioned officers who have deserted Villa, recites the good treatment received from Calles. It advises surrender to the nearest Carranza consulate. Forty-five Villa soldiers who crossed a Naco to-day and were given permission to traverse American territory crossed over to Agua Prieta to-night and joined Carranza.

Brownsville, Tex., Nov. 9.—Private Madden, of Company C, 26th United States Infantry, and seven other soldiers were fired on twice from the brush near La Feria, ten miles from here, late on Monday, according to reports reaching Fort Brown today. Three fingers of Madden's left hand were shot away.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION TO DEBATE SUFFRAGE

Move On to Give Women Vote in Parish Affairs.

Woman suffrage transplanted from politics to parish affairs is expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected to be one of the important questions discussed at the 133d Episcopal Diocesan Convention, which opens at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at 10 a. m. to-day. Bishop David H. Greer will celebrate communion. Those of the 800 clergymen and laymen who have been invited to the convention are expected